

FULL-TIME SQL DATA SPECIALIST POSITION AVAILABLE

Fundriver, a fast paced, entrepreneurial technology solutions company, is looking for a full-time SQL Data Specialist. Looking for candidates who thrive in a collaborative virtual environment working from home. As a small, growing company, Fundriver employees participate in decisions about how the business operates and contribute directly to Fundriver's growth.

Job Purpose:

The role of the SQL Data Specialist is to work collaboratively within the Client Services model to help maintain and service the growing client base. The SQL Data Specialist must be able to work well within a team.

Main Responsibilities:

This position will require the SQL Data Specialist to write and modify queries, scripts, stored procedures for completing the following:

- Deliver high-level support to client and Client Experience team by fielding tickets, meeting deadlines, prioritizing work items, and communicating work flow
- Build, maintain, test, and deploy client imports and exports
- Design, develop, and test SQL objects that drive custom and standard reports
- Collaborate with Project and Report Specialist to ensure client expectations are met
- Support internal Client Experience projects (documenting client-specific processes and providing internal training)
- Support internal Development projects, such as table and stored procedure cleanup, mass updates, audits, testing, and new feature deployment

The SQL Data Specialist will be directly working with the Implementation team and the Project and Report Specialist to handle new and existing client imports, exports and reports. In addition, the SQL Data Specialist will document client specific processes with the help of the Client Relationship Specialist.

Qualified candidate requirements include:

- Bachelor's degree preferred
- 1-3 years of T-SQL experience (e.g. creating queries, stored procedures, views)
- Proficiency with Microsoft Office products
- Some accounting experience, audit, and financial reporting standards, a plus
- Experience with Blackbaud, Ellucian or Workday, a plus
- Strong communication and teamwork skills with an open, friendly demeanor
- Strong time management, prioritization, multitasking and organizational skills
- Experience working independently, excellent critical thinking and troubleshooting skills
- Dedication to excellence in customer service
- Ability to work from home full time – can be located anywhere in the US
